Company history/background

Project Exura specializes in central and industrial heating, with a strong focus on CLV renovations for larger apartment buildings. A large part of its activities consists of solutions for chimney and exhaust systems, both via existing shafts and new external structures.

The assignments come primarily from associations of co-owners, supplemented by projects for private and business clients in classic HVAC, ensuring a stable mix of specialized and general services.

The company is active in Flanders and possesses modern infrastructure with a well-organized warehouse and office space, which supports efficient operations and further growth.
