Company history/background

Founded by a manager with over 30 years of experience in the fish sector. The business has grown into a professional processing company and wholesaler.

The company specializes in the expert filleting of all flat and round fish species, offering extensive services such as cooking, skinning, degreasing, deboning, and packaging for third parties. The company works with sustainably caught fish from Belgian fishermen and shipowners, sourced fresh from the North Sea using modern fishing vessels. Additionally, the company processes imported fish from Norway, Denmark, and Iceland, maintaining the same high quality standards. Furthermore, the company complies with strict HACCP hygiene standards, guaranteeing that the products are safe for consumption and that the processes are effective in preventing contamination.

Unique selling points

This quasi-independent company offers the manager the opportunity to take sufficient time off, while the business can continue to function perfectly. Three large & prominent companies as clients
